Living Room Dialogues

with Len and Libby Traubman

Saturday, September 16 at 2:00 sharp - 4:30pm

Belmont Library

Len and Libby Traubman have spent a lifetime enabling respectful communication among diverse, sometimes intensely conflicted youth and adults. They have mentored face-to-face civil reconciliation between Muslims and Christians and healing inter-racial dialogues on campuses and in cities across America. Their workshop is for sharing our life narratives -- listening to learn from each other, experiencing that "an enemy is one whose story we have not heard."

Please join one of the following communities to participate in a living room conversation. Registration is enthusiastically encouraged.
